

nd
vd

CODE OF PRACTICE

Getting Paid
as an Artist

Artists should be paid for their time, effort, skill and ideas.

This could be selling artwork...

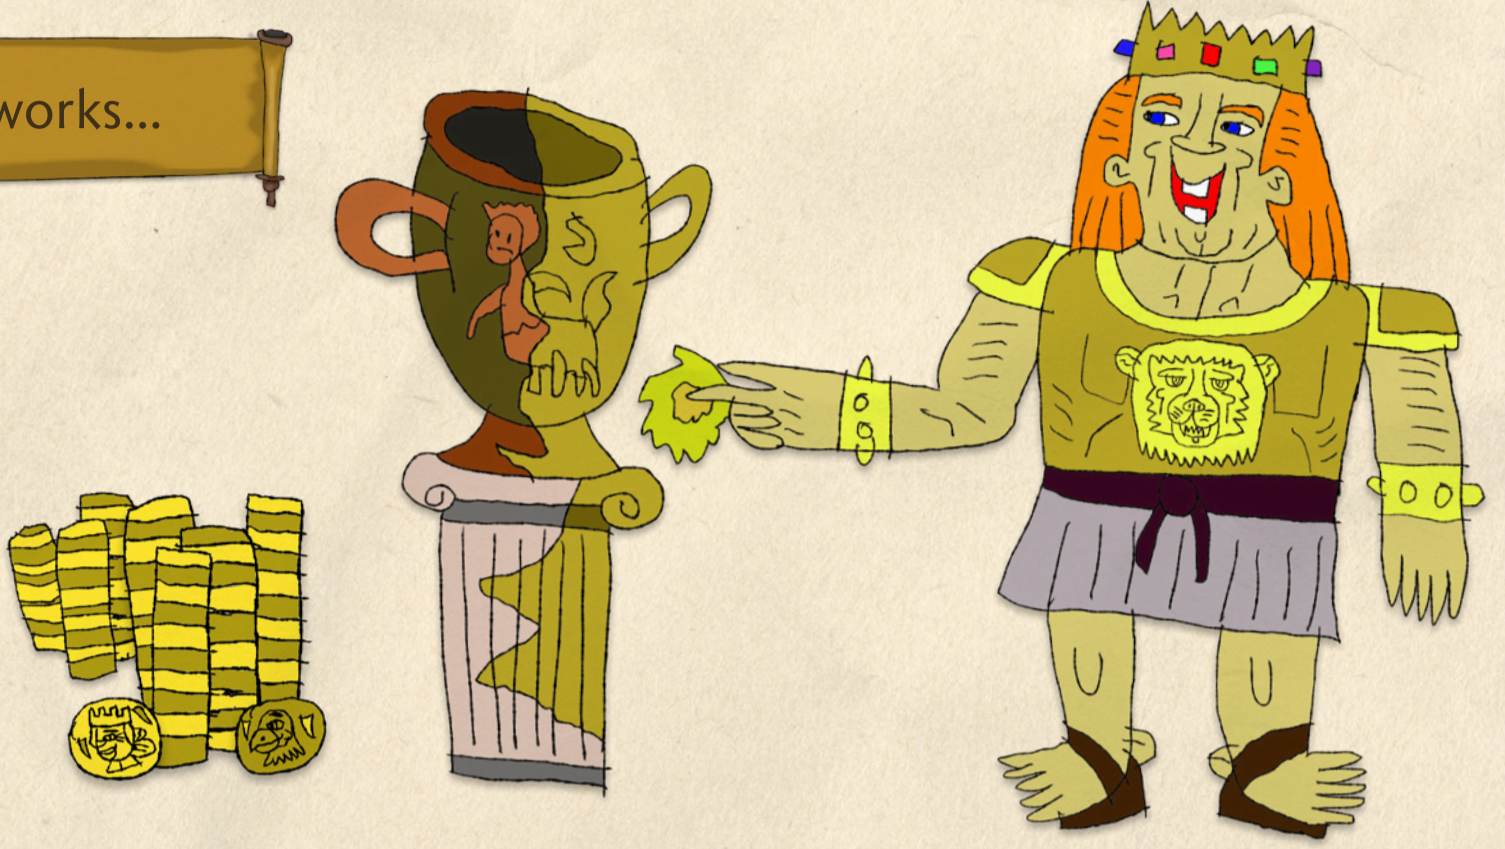

...or working for a person or arts organisation.

Artists should be paid for:

Creating new artworks...

Sharing images of their artworks...

Writing...

Giving advice or attending meetings...

...and teaching or speaking at events.

Workers who manage and support artists, should also be paid fairly for their work.

Anyone can use NAVA's Code of Practice to find out how much they should be paid when creating art, sharing their art or working on projects.

You can read the Code of Practice here:
code.visualarts.net.au

This document has been illustrated by Greg Sindel with production support provided by Studio A.
Content has been developed in collaboration with NAVA.